Pride Month is important for the uplifting of LGBTQ+ voices, celebrating the culture, and supporting LGBTQ+ rights. It also establishes a platform for educating and unifying allies of the community.

I am originally from a tiny Southeast Texas town where diversity has historically been minimal. I moved to Central Texas when I was 18, graduated college, and immediately started as a Sales Rep at RNDC after going through the college recruitment process. I have been with RNDC for 16 years, with the last 11 being based in the Houston market.

My partner and I got married in Bora Bora in 2012. We love trying new islands and beaches each year for vacation.

We have three rescue pups – Skippie Mary Tadersun (16 years and four months old), Riley Rue (1-year-old), and Gunner James (1 year and two months old). When these three fur babies aren't keeping us super busy, we love trying new restaurants/bars/brunch spots, hanging out at a local dive bar, spending time by the pool, watching the Astros, and traveling when we can.

The entire ARG concept is incredibly important as we all strive to better understand diversity and differences across multiple communities.
