

Name: Sly Cosmopoulos
Title: Director, Beverage Marketing
Location: Grand Prairie, TX

Sly Cosmopoulos is the Director of Beverage Marketing for Republic National Distributing Company managing the Beverage Marketing Division for all channels, customers, and consumer markets across the United States. Sly provides strategic leadership that encompasses mixology, supplier business development brand activation, national accounts drink strategy, new brand onboarding, and program development.

Sly's strong strategic business acumen, passionate drink development and advanced knowledge of distributors, suppliers, and brands allows her to provide valued training and educational beverage consulting seminars across the RNDC national footprint. Her cocktails have been featured in various magazines, newspapers and television spotlights such as Vanderpump Rules, Good Morning Texas, Daytime, and American Airline's American Way. However, her more than 25 years in the industry training new talent and developing innovative business strategies make her much more than a mixologist.

Sly is a wine and spirits industry expert and insider whose marketing tactics and business how-to has helped transform the way Republic National Distributing Company and their partners do business.

Ms. Cosmopoulos is not only known for her delicious and unique recipes, but cocktails that speak to lifestyle and bringing consumers back to the day of true taste. Once known across the country for her “conversation-creating cocktails,” Sly has made a name for herself as an industry leader and premier wine and spirits professional.
