

Name: Renee Pearson

Title: SVP of Digital Transformation and Business Engagement

Location: Atlanta, GA

Renee Pearson is currently SVP of Digital Transformation and Business Engagement at RNDC. In her role she leads multiple IT teams covering eCommerce, Commercial Systems, Data & Analytics, Enterprise Architecture and emerging technology. She is also a program leader for their current ERP Modernization multi-year effort.

Prior to RNDC, Renee was Head of Business Integration for Georgia Pacific's largest digital transformation program to date - CPG Digital Core. She was responsible for leading business integration and organizational change management for GP's Consumer Products business to implement SAP S4/HANA and associated end-to-end business process across corporate sites, consumer manufacturing facilities, and distribution centers.

Renee also spent nearly 20 years in multiple leadership roles at Kimberly-Clark (K-C), a global Consumer Products company recognized by its strong brands such as Huggies, Kleenex, and Kotex. She led business and technology teams through innovation and digital transformation activities leveraging emerging technology. Renee also spent several years within K-C IT Strategy during the successful divesture of K-C's Health Care business, Halyard Health, and spent over a decade leading and advancing K-C's IT data and analytics strategy and delivery.

Renee holds a degree in Management Information Systems from the University of Wisconsin - Eau Claire. She is actively engaged in the Atlanta professional community through various board engagements and is also an advocate for programs such as Girl Scouts of America and the March of Dimes. She currently resides with her family in Roswell, GA.
